

RULES OF THE HENRY COUNTY FARMERS MARKET
The Henry County Farmers Market is sponsored by the Henry County Extension

VENDOR SELECTION

Vendors for the Henry County Farmers Market will be “juried” in (pre-selected) by the Vendor Review Committee focusing on: product quality, the Henry County Farmers Market mission, Market mix, and prior Henry County Farmers Market vendor history (if any). Duplicate products may be denied. Henry County Farmers Market vendors who have not adhered to guidelines and policies in the past may also be denied. Priority will be given to those farmers, producers, and artisans whose products are 100% locally grown or produced, display any unusual or unique characteristics, and/or offer product variety to the Market.

Since a wide product mix is desired, vendors will be selected based on the following product categories: 70% produce, cut flowers and plants; 20% prepared and value-added goods; 10% crafts/artisan-type goods. (Product mix may be adjusted based on seasonal-growing fluctuations and other factors.) Vendors may be approved as full season, monthly, bi-weekly (every other week), and weekly, or “one-time.”

Those vendors who have duplicate products may be put on a waiting list, and fill in as standby or last minute vendors when full season and monthly vendors can not attend.

All vendors must provide proof of liability insurance.
