School Relations Tip #5

Summer Tip - School may be out for K-12 students across the state but the majority of school administrators have 12 month contracts. They use this time for planning and preparing for the upcoming school year. This is an excellent time to schedule a meeting with your curriculum director or even your superintendent or assistant superintendents to bring them up to speed on Cooperative Extension programs and resources available in your county. But, remember to keep it brief and to the point and leave them with something to remember you by. It may be a highlight page with pictures of your staff working with students or maybe the "Cooperative Extension: Partnering to Improve Student Achievement" brochure, make sure you leave something in their hands with your contact information on it. Now, stop reading and pick up the phone to schedule that meeting.
